U. S. 'Sky Dragons' Rip Japs With Smashing Raids

CHUNGKING, Sept. 5.—(Saturday)—(AP)—American "sky dragons," packing light bombs as well as machineguns on their fighting planes, carried out one of their most devastating sweeps all the way from Nanchang to Hankow Wednesday, Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced.

Nazis Execute 4 Clergymen in Czechoslovakia

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Three months to the day after Reinhard (the Hangman) Heydrich died of wounds inflicted by Czech patriots, the Germans announced tonight the execution of four clergymen, one a bishop, on charges that they had concealed and aided "parachute agents" accused of the assassination.

Already the Gestapo's revenge for the killing of this ruthless German ruler of Bohemia-Moravia has claimed hundreds, perhaps thousands of Czech lives and has resulted in the destruction of two entire villages and the death, arrest or transportation of their inhabitants.

The churchmen executed today, according to the German radio, were the Orthodox Bishop Gradi, Elder Jan Sonneveld, Dr. Vladimir Petrek, a chaplain, and Václav Cílek, a minister. Their property was confiscated.

Earlier in the day Czech government circles in London heard that 19 persons had been shot today in Prague. Eight of them were allegedly leaders in a secret anti-German organization. Three were reported accused of espionage and the other eight of burglary during the blackout.

In connection with the execution of the churchmen, the Prague radio reiterated German charges that the actual slayers were dropped by parachute from an RAF plane. Two of the alleged killers were shot on June 18 after they had been found in a church and later, it was reported, that five other "chute agents" had been slain at the same time.

Reds Set Nazi Air Force Losses at 60,000 Men

MOSCOW, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Moscow radio said tonight that the German air force had lost 60,000 men in Russia and that Hitler was forced now to send trained aircraft workers to the Soviet front as reserves.

British Thrust Axis Farther Back in Desert

CAIRO, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The British eighth army kept up its pressure on the Axis forces on the southern sector of the desert front stretching from El Alamein to the Qattara depression and by nightfall was reported to have thrust the enemy farther back in the west.

RAF and Australian Air Force bombers and torpedo planes located an enemy convoy in the central Mediterranean last night, it was announced, and sank a merchantman, damaged and probably sank a destroyer and started a fire on a third ship.

The same convoy previously had been attacked by U. S. Army bombers who claimed near misses on the destroyer and hits on one merchantman. The freighter, sunk by British fliers, broke in two, they said.

Tobruk Attacked. Heavy bombers attacked Tobruk last night, dropping high explosives among naval and fuel installations.

In the battle area a large force of medium bombers, accompanied by naval aircraft, attacked enemy tanks and motor transport, damaging many vehicles and starting numerous fires.

American tank crews, participating in the desert fighting, destroyed a number of Axis tanks in the first two days of action, U. S. Headquarters in the Middle East announced. One crew accounted for six German machines with another two probably destroyed.

Reconnaissance yesterday in the Candia bay area of Crete disclosed that the raid by U. S. Army bombers on Wednesday night definitely destroyed one destroyer, set two others ablaze and put a fourth out of control.

On Considerable Scale. British sources described today's land fighting as being "on a considerable scale" with infantry in action for the first time since Field Marshal Erwin Rommel launched his drive six days ago.

(In London, the British have been careful not to place too much emphasis on Rommel's withdrawal for it was conceded he was possibly jockeying for a better position.)

Military observers were agreed that, although aerial offensives have checked Rommel's push, no real battle has been joined in the latest operations.

There was no official comment on the extent or strategy of the withdrawal of Marshal Erwin Rommel's columns along the same route over which the newest attack was pushed.

The sum of the operations showed, however, that neither the Axis armored forces nor the infantry had made any appreciable progress.

British Patrols Active. During the night of September 2-3 British patrols were especially active in the northern sector which had been comparatively quiet except for sniping by Australian units.

Allied bombers came through the whole following day of attack without the loss of a plane, although the total operations surpassed the previous record established Wednesday.

The main land fighting yesterday, with the British taking the initiative momentarily from the withdrawing Axis forces, was confined to the Himeimat-Ruwaisat ridge corridor.

In the course of RAF and American bomber and fighter raids on enemy transport in the battle area and on Axis airfields to the rear two Messerschmitts were shot down.

Prisoners Taken, Italians Claim ROME (From Italian Broadcasts), Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Italian high command reported today that many New Zealand soldiers were captured and that the Allies lost a number of tanks in the battle of Egypt yesterday.

Engagements of armored units were declared to have "resulted to our advantage." The high command said that a British patrol had been surprised by an attack and annihilated.

Axis bombers were declared to have started fires and hit a freight train in a raid on an oil refinery district at Haifa, Palestine.

Churchill Will Reveal Details of Recent Trip LONDON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The decisions reached by Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin in the Kremlin will remain military secrets, but it was announced today, when parliament reconvenes Churchill will open a two-day debate with an account of details of his recent visits to Russia, Egypt and Iran.

The date of the session is not given in advance.

Fulton County Arnall Backers To Stage Rally

Fulton county supporters of Ellis Arnall will stage a rally in Atlanta tonight, with a brass band, singers, short addresses from leaders in the "Arnall for Governor" campaign—and with Ellis Arnall as the feature attraction.

Tonight's big show will be in the Dinkler room of the Ansley hotel, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Collaborating in the success of the meeting will be the Fulton County "Arnall for Governor" Club, the Student Political League and the Committee to Restore Education in Georgia.

Devereaux McClatchey, chairman of the Fulton county club, announced yesterday:

"We are giving the voters of Fulton county an opportunity to meet the man who will be the next Governor of Georgia."

In addition to Arnall, speakers representing various colleges and state organizations will take part in the program. Dr. Eugene C. Few, pastor of Druid Hills Methodist church, will pronounce the invocation.

Short addresses will be delivered by Curt Nesbit, president of Georgia Tech Student Political League; Mallory Atkinson, of Macdonald, executive secretary, State Committee to Restore Education in Georgia; Rutherford C. Ellis, co-chairman, Fulton County Committee to Restore Education in Georgia; Dr. Rufus Askew, alumnus, Georgia Medical College, and W. H. McNaughton, of Cartersville, president of Georgia Wildlife Federation.

The program will be broadcast over station WSB at 9:30 o'clock. Master of Ceremonies McClatchey will introduce H. H. Ware and William D. Thompson, Atlanta attorneys and alumni of Mercer and Emory universities, respectively, who will speak briefly. Following this, he will present Arnall, who will address the assembled crowd and the radio audience.

Will Vote for Arnall, Tom Linder Declares

Talmadge efforts to delude Georgia farmers into believing there has been no split between him and Tom Linder, Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, were blasted yesterday.

"I shall vote for Ellis Arnall on September 9. He will make an able Governor."

In addition, Linder will join Ellis Arnall in a visit to Wrightsville and Dublin today and will make an address on the Dublin program with Arnall at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Since June 6 when Talmadge stabbed his old campaign manager, Linder, in the back, the Talmadge door-to-door vote canvassers in rural Georgia have been assigned to the job of assuring the farmers that Talmadge and Linder are still the old buddies they were before the stabbing.

Factional Politics. "Unfortunately for Georgia, the last two changes in the Governor's office have been followed by the practice of the man in power attempting to capitalize on the shortcomings of his predecessor. There has grown up in Georgia too much factional politics."

"The leader of one of these factions has already retired to private life and, in my opinion, the leader of the other faction should retire to private life in the interest of the state, and in the interest of the unity of our people during the trying years and the sacrifices which which undoubtedly lie ahead."

"It is true that Ellis Arnall has been attorney general during both administrations."

"It is likewise true, as everyone familiar with state government knows, that the attorney general does not and cannot direct the administration of the executive affairs of the state."

"My fight, as the public general, is to bring about a change in the administration of the state."

Declares for Arnall. Yesterday he declared definitely for Arnall; in these words: "I am in receipt of numerous requests from my friends throughout Georgia asking how I stand on the candidates for Governor in Wednesday's primary."

"I have known Mr. Talmadge and Mr. Arnall for a good many years. I have been a friend to them both throughout these years. It is my opinion that the farmers of Georgia will be voting in their own interest, and in the interest of their boys overseas, and in the interest of the future of our state, if they vote for Ellis Arnall on September 9. I shall vote for Mr. Ellis Arnall on September 9. He will make an able Governor."

Win War Effort. "We are now engaged in the greatest world war of all times. Every farm home has a boy or a neighbor in the armed forces. A good many of these homes have already been saddened by the news that a member of the family, or of a neighbor family, has

Drastic Order Is Expected First of Week

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, responsible sources revealed tonight, has prepared for issuance Monday the most drastic order affecting the everyday life of Americans in the nine and a half years since he became President—a decree limiting all wages, salaries and farm prices in the United States.

At the same time, the order, as presently drafted, will create an economic administrator to see that these and other policies to hold down the wartime cost of living are carried out. Wendell Willkie, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of New York, and Bernard M. Baruch were among those mentioned as possibilities for the job.

Revolutionary Order. Aside from its impact on every American, the order is deemed even by the President's advisers who helped him draft it to be almost revolutionary because the farm price section will, in effect, set aside an act of congress—a provision of the price control act which specifically forbids any price ceilings on farm products at less than 110 per cent of parity.

Some commodities are above this mark, but some are below it. The President will assert his wartime powers and duties are sufficient to justify such unprecedented action to prevent the wartime runaway rise in the cost of living.

Cost-of-Living Prices. As outlined by government officials who cannot be quoted by name, the President's action is scheduled to do these things: Wages—Any work paid for by an hourly rate, or other personal compensation less than $75 per week. The President is expected to order that no wage rates be increased above their January 1, 1941, level by more than the rise in the cost of living since that date, which is roughly 15 per cent. In the case of persons working by the hour, this will not affect increased pay resulting from working more hours per week.

Salaries Between $75 Per Week and $7,500 Per Year—A last-minute decision is yet to be made whether these will be frozen at existing levels or permitted to increase with the same cost-of-living formula applied to wages. Salaries Over $7,500—No increases.

Downward Revisions. Farm Prices—To be frozen at existing levels for the time being, subject to probable revision later in the case of some products. Certain of the revisions, it was said, would be downward.

These are the general policies scheduled to be enunciated in the order. Many details will be left to the administrator, including probably such questions as pay raises accompanying bona fide promotions.

In some cases, enforcement will be indirect. Income tax laws will be used particularly to back the President's statement of what employers should do about wages. By refusing employers the usual "business expense" deductions for unauthorized wage increases, which would automatically increase the taxes of the employers, officials believe the government can make it too expensive to evade the wage policy. Most employers, as a matter of normal economy, probably would abide by the order voluntarily.

The order is not expected to take any direct action on other cost-of-living angles, but the President is expected in his message to congress and radio address to the public, to emphasize the supplemental need of more taxes, more war bond purchases, payment of debts, avoidance of hoarding, more rationing and similar measures.

Protests Anticipated. Any setting aside by executive fiat of the legislative props for farm prices might be expected to result in protests from the congressional farm bloc and from additional members of congress concerned with the prerogatives of the three branches of government. It is apparently in an effort to forestall some of this criticism and to answer some of the objections

Without Scrap War Might Be Lost, Newsmen Told

By RALPH MCGILL.

New Zone Plan May Postpone Live Hog Ceiling

3 Weight Groups Considered in Proposed Price Setting.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration said today its proposal for price ceilings on live hogs might be postponed until after establishment of the new zoning plan for ceilings on the packer-slaughtered product, expected within a week or 10 days.

Mechanics of possible maximum prices for live hogs were discussed here this week at conferences of producers, livestock commission men and packer-buyers.

However, OPA said no definite decision had been reached on the nature of the proposal it may submit to Agriculture Secretary Wickard.

Both trade and OPA quarters stressed that in arriving at a live hog ceiling, the price level must be one which will maintain present record hog production plans, not unduly penalize either producer or consumer, and insure equitable distribution.

Weight and Quality. Among the features of a possible ceiling on live hogs, discussed at the recent conferences, were three group weight classifications intended to provide proper differentials for variations in quality. The OPA gave out a statement outlining the situation as follows:

A proposal under consideration is for a possible "base weight class" on butcher types of hogs, ranging from 200 to 300 or 350 pounds.

Slightly lower per pound price ceilings might be set on hogs weighing less than 200 pounds or for those animals tipping the scales at more than the upper limits of the base class.

Somewhat less than normal discounts under the usually more desirable weight classes might be utilized in setting ceilings on heavier weight hogs if live hog ceilings are necessary.

"It is pointed out that heavy hogs—in addition to their added weight—produce proportionately more dressed or slaughtered meats than lighter weights. Other discounts may be set for unfinished and soft hogs."

Dressed Hog Ceiling. The OPA said ceilings on the dressed hog product would be established on a specific dollar and cents basis, rather than the individual seller's list prices as previously—"which in many cases represented hopes rather than actual general selling prices during the base period."

These dressed hog ceilings probably will be set at three base points in the central packing areas—Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City—with adjustments to other cities figured on freight differentials from these three markets.

The new dressed hog ceilings in general, OPA said, will approximate the actual sales levels prevailing during early March, with any live hog ceilings likely to be in line with this level of pork products. The top price for hogs in Chicago during the March 3-7 period, used as the base period for pork products, was quoted by OPA as $13.50 a hundredweight.

Heroic Soviets Halt Assault On Stalingrad

ers of Stalingrad had reached the western suburbs, and said the German armies of the Crimea had crossed the Kerch strait with air and sea support to join the coastal columns in the offensive above Novorossiisk. North of Stalingrad German troops were declared to be virtually blocking the Volga, reportedly sinking three gunboats, two monitors, six freighters and other smaller craft, presumably with cannon fire.

"The battles for Stalingrad have no precedent in their violence," Red army dispatches said. The Germans, achieving double and sometimes triple superiority in men, tanks and other mechanized weapons, had won more ground both northwest and southwest of the city. The threat from the southwest evidently was the most serious—the latest menace had developed over a period of 12 hours, with the enemy advancing at enormous cost in one narrow sector.

In the deep Caucasus, some 50 miles from the oil fields of Grozny, there also was furious fighting, with the Germans managing at length to get across to the south bank of a waterway in the Moxdok sector.

Besid Grozny, the Germans are aiming at Ordzhonikidze 50 miles southwest of that place. Ordzhonikidze is the terminus of the Georgian military highway leading across the mountains to Tiflis.

Heroic Defense Efforts. Accountants of the battle on the southwest approaches to Stalingrad told how thinning Russian ranks crunched in their trenches until the German tanks mounted the breakthrough, then swarmed over and assaulted the machines with grenades and incendiary bottles.

One phalanx of tanks, mechanized infantry and mobile infantry, drove into the front defenses, turned northward to capture a segment of railway line, then plunged to the east.

Russian dispatches said the Germans systematically were wedging into the Red army's positions, but had not, thus far, broken all the way through.

Aircraft from the Egyptian theater and troops from occupied France were among the legions now trying to storm the heart of Stalingrad and the gateway to the Caspian, the army newspaper Red Star said. German planes were attacking the city in constant waves of 150 and more, flying in from different directions.

On the Black sea front, the Russians had taken up a new defense line above Novorossiisk in a stubborn attempt to stem assault on that naval base from both north and west.

Navy Issues 'Do's and Dont's' In Mailing Christmas Parcels

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Christmas parcels for sailors and Marines should be mailed early and kept small, the Navy said today.

Supplying a set of "do's and don'ts" the Navy said gifts should be mailed between October 1 and November 1, and labeled "Christmas parcel" to get special attention.

Articles should be easily portable, and useful in every climate, such as toilet kits, watches, notebooks, pens, pens and photographs. Electrical apparatus "is of doubtful value," and food should be avoided particularly, because it is apt to arrive in bad condition.

Other instructions: No clothing unless it was specifically requested. No mailing of intoxicants, inflammable materials or poisons—prohibited by postal regulations. Because of shipping space shortages, size of Christmas packages should not be larger than an ordinary shoebox, or weigh over six pounds.

Youth, 19, Has to Join Navy To Get Size 16-EE Shoes

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Herbert Fruitman, 19, joined the Navy today.

Herbert is patriotic, of course. But he had another reason, too. He likes to wear shoes.

Herbert's 210 pounds, in a 6-foot, 3-inch frame, rest on a 16-EE foundation. He's been buying brogans from a New York firm, but it notified him it could no longer serve him. Priorities, and such.

Herbert went to the Marines. The Marines run to big sizes, but only No. 12 shoes. Then he went to the Navy. No 16s either—here. But a check located a pair in San Diego. So Herbert joined the Navy today.

Giant Heinkel Flat Feet Fail Reported in Use To Keep Dancer Over Britain Out of Army

CAMP ADAIR, Ore., Sept. 4.—(AP)—Dancing George F. Miller, Negro lad from Denver, is in the Army despite his flat feet, insufficient teeth and scant 90 pounds.

"Miller, known professionally as 'Lil' Curly,' was rejected in the draft. But President Roosevelt heard about his dancing and donations to a hospital fund in last year's President's Birthday ball in Denver for infantile paralysis sufferers. He also heard Miller wanted to be a soldier."

So the President arranged to have Miller's nine teeth supplied by the necessary store teeth and suggested that such a dancer's feet couldn't be very bad. So Miller shuffled past the recruiting officer and into the Army.

F.D.R. To Limit All Salaries, Farm Prices

In advance that Mr. Roosevelt is planning a message to congress before his address to the people Monday. The message probably will constitute an explanation of the step—the President has said that it will not be a request for any legislation.

It was recalled that when Mr. Roosevelt sent his message to congress in 1940 advising it of the deal by which 50 destroyers were to be sent to Great Britain for outlying air and naval bases, he sent along the opinion of former Attorney General Jackson, now a supreme court justice, upholding his authority for the act. In that case, too, the President's message constituted a report and an explanation of the step.

Nazi Tanks Destroyed By U. S. Desert Crews

CAIRO, Sept. 4.—(AP)—U. S. Army Headquarters announced tonight that American tank crews, participating in the western desert battle, had destroyed a number of German tanks during the first two days of action.

One tank crew alone accounted for six Nazi tanks and probably destroyed two others, the announcement said.

erally knows, has been and will be in the interest of the men and women who live on the farms, and that class of business dependent upon and directly connected with farming.

"Some of the fundamental principles of our liberties have been willfully trampled under foot by the present Governor."

"The most vital interests of the farmers of Georgia have been sacrificed to political expediency by the present Governor."

Role of Agriculture. "The winning of this war and the preservation of our country depends to a very large measure on agriculture. There is a hard fight ahead for those of us who are trying to preserve the farms and the farmer's right to produce crops to feed our armed forces and our civilian population."

"It is impossible to carry out this fight successfully so long as the highest office in the state is devoted to factional politics and the perpetuation of officeholders whose eyes are set on events of the past rather than looking to the future."

Split Definite. From many Georgia counties last week, word filtered into Atlanta that members of the Georgia State Patrol and State Highway Department workers and wildlife rangers were passing the word among themselves to keep a constant 24-hour a day vigil. Women watch in the day and men at night. Funds with which to build the tower were subscribed by individuals.

Ex-Law Partner Of Talmadge for Arnall

John B. Ivins, a former law partner of Governor Talmadge before he entered office in 1940, in a statement issued yesterday urged his friends to aid Georgia of Talmadge and to support Ellis Arnall in next week's primary.

"Last campaign I spent the greater part of three months visiting, north Georgia counties urging the election of Talmadge," Ivins' statement said in part. "I wish I could go back over the same territory I covered in 1940, take back all that I said and did, and apologize for everything."

"Looking back over the past two years it is plain to see Talmadge picked up right where he left off four years before."

Prior to 1940, Ivins was associated with the law firm of Talmadge, Fraser & Camp, with offices in the William Oliver building.

Grand Jury Report Urges Closer Ties To Family Circle

A plea that every American citizen, in this hour of crisis, rally around the family unit as a pillar of strength was made yesterday in presentments to Judge A. L. Etheridge, of Fulton superior court, by the July-August grand jury.

The presentments also made an extensive report on venereal disease in the nation, state and city and urged city and county authorities to intensify efforts to stamp it out. They also condemned the Cooper Street Home for Girls as "the worst fire trap we have seen in Atlanta where human beings are housed" and recommended changes in its administration. The pardon racket was also scored.

Hold Family Unit. "The one unflinching pillar of strength in the God in whom we trust," said the grand jury, "and send only to Him, the members of this grand jury believe is the American family unit. In the spirit, it, and courage, and strength of the family is to be found the character of the nation."

"American mothers and fathers have upon them, never before more definitely, the inescapable responsibility of uniting their families around the principles upon which this nation was founded, of developing respect for law and order, and of encouraging in our young people the desire to attain the knowledge and wisdom with which they can successfully meet the responsibilities which will soon be theirs."

"Drastic changes in American family life are being brought about by the war but this grand jury makes the plea to every American citizen that the poverty stricken, the educated nor the illiterate are immune."

Hits Syphilis Rate. Discussing venereal disease, the presentments said: "One conclusion quickly arrived at is that this is also a health problem, and one that involves economics and social conditions. Neither men nor women, boys nor girls, races, scions of wealth, the poverty stricken, the educated nor the illiterate are immune."

"Of immediate concern in this time of war is the fact that over the nation, of the first million selectees and volunteers, 45.2 a thousand of those examined were found to be infected with syphilis. In Florida, the highest state, the rate was 170 a thousand. In New Hampshire, the lowest state, the rate was 5.8 a thousand."

"Georgia is fourth on the list with 132.9 a thousand. Atlanta, with 162.5 a thousand, tops the list of cities with 250,000 population or over. The statement was made to us that approximately 40 per cent of this 162.5 a thousand were white, 60 per cent colored."

Asks Board Enlarged. While the grand jury found that considerable efforts had been made to combat local conditions, it urged that further steps be taken by authorities.

The presentments praised the work of the Cooper Street Home for Girls, but urged that better records be kept, that different groups of women and girls at the home be segregated, and that the present board of trustees be enlarged by five members.

Regarding pardons and paroles, the grand jury said: "Our pardon and parole system in its present form encourages abuse, and if the officials who are entrusted with the right of pardon and parole will not use this privilege for the purpose for which it is granted them, either the officials should be replaced, or the system revised."

In a special presentment, the grand jury expressed appreciation of the work of its foreman, R. E. Gormley.

3 More Cited For Heroism in Aleutian Area

Southerners Receive Awards From Alaskan Defense Command.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 4. (P)—The Alaska Defense Command today announced additional awards for outstanding performances on duty in action in the Aleutian area.

They included the posthumous award of the Flying Cross to Captain Jack F. Todd, whose widow lives in Shreveport, La.

The citation said it was for heroism while acting as first pilot and flight leader on a bombardment flight of four planes against the Japanese in the Aleutians. The flight was caught in heavy antiaircraft fire from unobserved enemy warships, while maneuvering to attack a cruiser.

Todd's plane was hit, caught fire and crashed on an island. With no previous experience in the Aleutian area, Todd was cited for proceeding in the inclement weather to the target area, choosing the target and attacking.

First Lieutenant Lester Manley Chancellor, Macon, Miss., received the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement and initiative while pilot in his first conflict with an armed enemy in the Aleutian area. With very low ceiling and fog, Chancellor downed an enemy dive-bomber, one of a group of Japanese aircraft.

Second Lieutenant James Alexander Dale, Miami, Fla., won the DSC when, acting as pilot in his first conflict with an armed enemy in the Aleutian area, flying in fog and extremely low ceiling, he shot down a dive-bomber.

Whether British or Red Planes Made Night Attack Is Unknown.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts). Saturday, Sept. 5.—(P)—The Hungarian capital of Budapest had its first air attack of the war during the night and a few bombs fell in and around the city, the Berlin radio announced early today.

The alarm sounded at 11:30 p. m. last night and the all clear was given at 1:20 a. m.

Reports from the city said one heavy blast was heard outside the capital about midnight.

These dispatches further said a few bomb hits had been noted in Budapest.

Wood Mills May Help Build Planes

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—(P)—Government sources, declining to be identified, said today America's wood furniture industry may have a part in the mass production of cargo planes proposed by Henry J. Kaiser, west coast industrial wizard, for rushing supplies to United Nations forces in the global war.

Thousands of skilled wood workers in plants all over the country, using machines which are readily adaptable, could be enlisted to produce parts of the huge wooden air transports envisaged by Kaiser and his associate in the cargo planes proposal, Howard Hughes, millionaire speed pilot and plane designer.

Hemp Substitute Experiment May Be Tried Out in Florida

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(P)—Senator Pepper, Democrat, Florida, said today that O. R. Winchester, of Boynton, Fla., had expressed a willingness to start growing sansevieria as a substitute for hemp in rope making until large-scale operations could be started with federal assistance.

Under the proposal outlined today by Winchester to the senator, 100,000 mature plants, sufficient to cover 10 acres, would be set out at once for study and for production of fiber for experimental purposes.

Subsequent commercial planting would be on a tract of 250 acres of improved land now available. Winchester, Fred P. Abbott, assistant general agricultural agent of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, and Herman Nichols, of the War Production Board, conferred with Pepper today on the project.

British Lose 378 Planes During August

German Attacks Reported Consistently Light Throughout Month.

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 5.—(P)—The RAF lost 378 planes during August in operations over Germany and occupied Europe, defense officials said today. Attacks on Axis shipping, compared with 247 Axis planes destroyed in the same period, the air ministry disclosed today.

The report said weather conditions over Britain and German target areas generally was unfavorable, but that the bomber command was over Germany on 12 nights and over both Germany and Nazi-held territory five days during the month.

It was noted that there were no four-figure raids, but there were several of the "standard three-figure order," with the heaviest on Kassel, Saarbruecken, Frankfurt, Mainz and Duisburg.

German planes singly or in small groups flew over parts of Britain on 28 nights and 27 days. "Though continuous throughout the month, German attacks were consistently light and scattered with results in no way comparable with the heavy offensive carried out by the RAF against the Reich," the report said.

'Missing Men' To Be Sought By Red Cross

Group To Attempt to Get Messages Through to Prisoners of Japs.

For news-starved men who have disappeared from the face of the earth, as far as the outside world is concerned, personal greetings and chit-chat from home will soon be a reality. The Red Cross is attempting to get messages through to men "missing in action."

Inaugurating a new service, the Atlanta chapter is now taking 25-word messages to be transported to men in the Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard officially reported as "missing in action," aboard the S. S. Gripsholm, diplomatic liner which soon will leave New York city.

The messages, some 30 of which were amassed Thursday at the Atlanta chapter, will be designated for the International Red Cross delegate in Japan, who will make every effort to see they reach the missing men, many of whom probably are prisoners of Japan.

Although it has been possible before to communicate with men listed officially as prisoners of war, this is the first time any attempt has been made by the Red Cross to find those with no address.

This new undertaking is the result of a special agreement made August 31, by the offices of the provost marshal, and of censorship and war information; the Departments of State, War, Navy and Post Office and the American Red Cross.

Headquarters jammed. For the past two days Red Cross headquarters here have been jammed by families of men who were stationed in the Philippines, who wish to communicate with sons, husbands and fathers from whom many of them have not heard in almost a year.

Because of limited space on transport ships, families and friends are urged by Red Cross officials to get together on messages to the same man. Forms are available at Red Cross headquarters. Since the service may be continuous, families can send messages at the rate of about one a month, according to Red Cross headquarters.

Most of the some 40 messages collected so far are addressed to men at Clark Field, Fort William McKinley, Cebu, Batavia, and Corregidor, men who have not been heard from since the fall of Corregidor. Most of the messages are of a highly personal nature, but some give the first information of important events which have transpired since the missing man last received any mail.

Missing Sons. For instance, Jack Ernest Hunt, sailor, missing since May 6, will know that his brother, First Sergeant W. E. Hunt, married the former Miss Pearl Sheer, of Atlanta Thursday night and that his mother, Mrs. Eunice Morrison, of 437 Hildersheim street, S. W., is now working, unless he receives the message penned to him by his mother yesterday.

Two Atlanta families affixed terse messages to two of the pink forms. Both of them have two sons missing in action. Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Herren, of 204 Laurel street, N. E., sent notes to Navy Pilot William Fielder Herren, at Cavite, and Albert Felix Herren Jr., who was with naval aviation. Private Samuel J. Hill, Fort Mills, Corregidor, and Private George B. Hill, Manila, are the two missing sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hill, of 1645 Boulevard drive, S. E.

Mrs. Frances K. Brougher, of 326 Adams street, Decatur, sent a message to her husband, Brigadier General William Edward Brougher, on Bataan, and Mrs. Elizabeth King, of 736 Piedmont avenue, N. E., sent one to her husband, Major General Edward Postell King, on Bataan.

Two Atlanta Firms Get War Contracts

Two Atlanta firms were awarded government construction contracts valued from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 yesterday, according to a War Department announcement.

The Grinnell Company will install a steam and compressed air distribution system and a steam piping system for the main assembly building of a Cobb county plant, and the Smith & Pew Construction Company has the contract for a sanitary sewerage system in Etowah county, Alabama. Both these contracts were handled by the Atlanta Engineers Office.

Also listed among the new War Department contracts was that issued by the Mobile (Ala.) engineer's office to the William F. Kelly Company, of New Orleans, for a gas fueling system in Decatur county, Georgia.

WAGA Makes New Agreements

The Liberty Broadcasting Corporation, operating radio station WAGA, has agreed that "it would cease representing that WAGA has more listeners in Atlanta than any other radio station," the Federal Trade Commission announced yesterday.

The company also agreed to cease certain other representations, the commission said, among them "that when operating as authorized on its construction permit, it can be heard without interference over the entire state of Georgia."

Two Faculty Changes Made At LaGrange

Teacher Changes Are Announced by Superintendent.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. LAGRANGE, Ga., Sept. 4.—Two changes have been announced in the faculty of the LaGrange high school since the list was released last week, according to B. A. Lancaster, superintendent of city schools.

Miss Emily Rowe, daughter of the late F. F. Rowe, for many years superintendent of the schools of LaGrange, who has served as Spanish and English teacher for the past three years, has resigned to accept a position as Spanish interpreter and censor with the United States government at Miami; Miss Mary Radford, of Greensboro, Ga., French teacher at LaGrange High for several years past, has resigned because of the illness of her mother.

Filling these vacancies will be Miss Wynette Phillips, of Hogansville, who has recently taught speech and English in the Thomasville schools, and Miss Hallie Anne Cox, of Athens, who has been a member of the faculty of Cordele schools, teaching Spanish and French.

Superintendent Lancaster also announces the addition of Mrs. Helen Jackson James, of LaGrange, to the school system as teacher of extra-curricular activities in the schools of Dunston, Dawson, and Hill street; Unity and Southwest LaGrange schools have these departments handled by Miss Mary Esther Crowder and Mrs. Remer Crum. Art subjects are to be directed in the high school by Mrs. Winnie Heidenrich, and in the grammar schools of the city by Mrs. Isabel Vaughan.

Rise, Hep-Cats, Swing, Sway—The Zoot Suit Is Here To Stay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Rise, you hep-cats, swing and sway—the zoot suit is here to stay!

Chorus (beat out sweet in boogie-woogie): "We hope, we hope, we hope."

While the wrath of the War Production Board waxed hot and high over the "fabric-wasting, so-called garments" that garb the jumping jitterbugs, the platter fans in long-tailed coats and strap-on pants picked up the jive with a gibe today.

"The WPB orders cover the manufacture of men's suits from wool," said one dealer of these natty rags for needle nuts. "We've already anticipated the order and have begun making the suits out of rayon and cotton."

Rayon Frills Restricted. But while the male gate's drape shape with the stuffed cuffs seemed saved from the shears, no such hope loomed for the long juke coats of the gal randy dancers. Another WPB order restricts rayon and cotton as well as wool in feminine frills and furbelows.

In a quick encore for the latecomers, the zoot suit has a long-tailed coat that tapers away to display the gay dog chain usually worn by the cats. The shoulders overhang three inches, at least, for effect, and to leave room inside for the coat-hanger which a WPB "expert" said must bug wear to the ball. The pants have a knee stretch and an ankle squeeze and rise so high you can do a tie and leave your shirt in the laundry.

All this and reet pleats, too! The juke coat is a girl's jacket that plays follow-the-leader in length.

Hip-Hounds Answer. Before the loophole loomed, a WPB official (likely a long-hair) said it was unpatriotic to make 'em, sell 'em or wear 'em in these cuffed days—but the hip-hounds had an answer.

Strictly off the beam, one dealer said he hoped the zoot suits were taken off the market. The groove guys are "most difficult to please," he said. "They want their coat pockets straight up and down; their trousers pleated, their knees baggy and their cuffs tight enough to cut off circulation."

Which would just zoot—oops, suit—the WPB.

Milk Permits Reinstated For Four Dairies

Case Made Against Another, E. K. Day Also Reports.

Permits to sell milk in Atlanta have been reinstated for four more dairies recently ordered to cease sales because they did not meet sanitation standards, E. K. Day, chief of the bureau of milk sanitation, said yesterday.

The reinstated dairies are C. E. Scott Jr., Route 1, Decatur; East Lake Dairy, operated by J. E. Power, Route 1, Decatur; W. C. Shumate, Route 1, Stone Mountain; and the High Rock Dairy, operated by Fred Parker, Route 1, Decatur. These and the Linwood Dairy, Austell, are now authorized to sell milk in the city.

Day said a new case was made yesterday morning against Mrs. S. A. Carroll, operator of the S. A. Carroll dairy, Route 8, Atlanta. It is set for hearing at 8:30 o'clock this morning, in recorder's court. Three other milk cases are to be heard September 16.

Atlanta Lawyer Is Indicted on 4 Larceny Counts

Misappropriation of Funds Is Charged by Grand Jury.

William F. Brandt, Atlanta lawyer, yesterday was charged with simple larceny and three counts of larceny after trust in two indictments returned by the Fulton county grand jury.

In the first indictment, he was alleged to have misappropriated $72.42, the property of Inman Gray. The second indictment charges him with misappropriating sums entrusted to him by the Burdett Realty Company, Inman Gray and Leonard Antinazi.

G. B. Morris was named in three indictments alleging wife-beating, drunkenness on a public street and use of opprobrious words. He was charged with beating his wife, Mrs. Pauline Morris, and with assaulting Mrs. W. B. Smith, of 21 Estoria street, S. E., on the same day. The other indictments grew out of the same incidents, according to the true bills.

Leonard Hyde was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder his wife, Mrs. Claudine Hyde, and Hal Roke, on August 15. According to police reports, Hyde shot and wounded his wife and Roke at a fruit stand at Lakewood and Stewart avenues.

Ration Use Of Telephone, Pfaff Urges

Public Asked To Make Only Essential Local, Long Distance Calls.

Don't make that long-distance telephone call unless it's absolutely essential—or Uncle Sam is going to crack down.

That, in effect, was the word yesterday from R. N. Pfaff, district manager of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, in an announcement stating still further reduction in long-distance and local calls is essential to the war effort.

Pfaff disclosed there is some evidence of the public's efforts voluntarily to ration both toll and local service in response to the company's nation-wide appeal.

"But the results are far short of what is needed," his statement continued.

"The company's former statement asked long-distance users to eliminate the least necessary calls and to place the really necessary ones at least congested hours. It asked everyone to make fewer local calls also.

"It is now necessary to request all civilians not to place any long-distance calls at any hour unless the call is extremely urgent and to ask every telephone user to ration voluntarily his local calls to at least a third less each day. Long 'visiting' by telephone should be curtailed for the duration.

"This is essential to assure at all times the quick service demanded by military and production men.

"Unless voluntary efforts of civilians result in sufficient reduction of calls to keep lines clear for war messages, more definite measures may become necessary."

U-Boat Sinks Latvian Ship In Caribbean

24 Seamen Perish, Navy Reports; Vessel Toll Now 455.

By The Associated Press.

Twenty-four seamen perished in the submarine sinking of a Latvian merchantman in the Caribbean, the Navy announced yesterday, in the wake of additional reports from Lisbon disclosing that another ship's captain had been imprisoned aboard the raider which destroyed his vessel about 1,000 miles east of Baltimore.

The latest U-boat victims raised to 455 the Associated Press count of announced western Atlantic sinkings since December.

In Rio de Janeiro, Brazilian newspapers published a speech made by Air Minister Joaquin Salgado Filho, part of which declared that several Axis submarines have been destroyed by the Brazilian air force. (Only one untested raider has been officially announced as sunk by a Brazilian plane).

Meanwhile, as the nation's shipyards raced to complete 2,300 ships by the end of 1943, the first naval district announced yesterday that 150 launchings and keel-layings have been scheduled to take place on Labor day. Eleven naval vessels will be launched in New England shipyards alone, in addition to the setting of keels for 18 more.

CUBAN MOBILIZATION.

HAVANA, Sept. 4.—(P)—President Fulgencio Batista announced today that mobilization of Cubans of draft age would start shortly and disclosed that some officers of the old army and navy which he and other enlisted men ousted in the "sergeants' revolt" of 1933 would be recalled to duty as instructors.

POWER MEN DO THEIR PART—Marching along like veterans, the Georgia Power Company's motor reserve division stepped out for its first public inspection yesterday. The division was formed three months ago and consists of 50 bus operators trained to provide emergency transportation for troops or to evacuate the city in case of a major catastrophe. The group was reviewed by power company officials and Army officers. The division can move 2,000 persons, soldiers or civilians, simultaneously. The men are all first aid experts, too.

Georgian 'Stalwart' in Solomon Battle

(In the first eyewitness account of how United States Marines annihilated a Japanese landing force of more than 700 troops who sought to recapture American positions in the Solomon Islands, Richard Tregaskis, International News Service war correspondent, here gives a vivid picture of our heroic Marines in action. The attack was the first Marine force in the Solomons and has been with them ever since. His dramatic dispatch highlights and supplements the terse communique issued August 22 at Pearl Harbor by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, declaring that of "about 700" Japanese troops landed in the Solomons "670 are dead, the rest prisoners.")

By RICHARD TREGASKIS.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

U. S. MARINE HEADQUARTERS, GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, Aug. 21.—(Delayed) (INS)—The battle of the Tenaru river, one of the most disastrous Japanese defeats in history, where in 14 hours of the hardest fighting an estimated 750 Japanese troops were encircled and annihilated, is at an end.

It is 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and now the Marine forces which encircled the Japanese from the rear and closed a pincer upon their positions, have joined our forces.

Our tanks have just come back from a mopping-up expedition in which, despite heavy Japanese fire and antitank grenades which put one tank out of action (with no casualties), the last organized Jap positions were cleaned up.

Few Snipers Left.
There are still snipers in the coconut grove which the main Jap forces occupied, but they are very few and will be completely cleaned out in a few hours. It is fairly safe to walk among the unbelievable carnage which is all that remains of the Japs.

The Japanese dead are strewn in a long, irregular line along the sandbar that closes the mouth of the Tenaru river. In places, they are lying three deep.

These dead are testimony to the fierce efforts which the Japs made to cross this bridgehead and storm the strong American forces on the west bank of the Tenaru.

Beyond the sandbar, in the coconut grove to the east of the Tenaru, amidst the stumps of palms shattered by artillery or smashed flat by tanks, piled in shell and fox-holes, are the remnants of many Japanese machine-gun and light artillery positions.

Landed in Destroyers.
The actual count of bodies is 176 on the sandbar, 443 in the grove, 36 in the row of tin houses beyond the grove, and 50 is the estimated number of those who tried to escape by swimming and were shot.

This is the end of a Japanese expedition which came to this island two and one-half days ago under cover of night, in six destroyers, and landed some 30 miles down the coast to the east of the Tenaru river.

They evidently were first-line troops, larger physically than the puny labor battalion prisoners we have captured on this island, and equipped with rifles, machine-guns, light artillery, mortars, grenades and flamethrowers.

This force composed of Japanese army regulars, landed successfully, and worked their way down to the Tenaru before the battle began.

Mississippi Leader.
A group of troops, led by Lieutenant Colonel Lenard B. Cresswell, of Mississippi, then encircled the entire body of Japs from the rear and closed the pocket. Tanks under Lieutenant Leo B. Case, of Syracuse, N. Y., moved into the Jap positions.

That is a bare summary of the way in which the Japanese were defeated. It gives no concept of the utter ferocity of the fighting, of the fight to the death which the Japs put up, or the superior courage, intelligence and skill displayed by the Marines.

It was shortly after midnight this morning that a platoon of troops stationed on the bank of the Tenaru encountered sniper fire from the other bank.

Japs Storm Position.
At 2:10 a. m., it became evident that the platoon was opposed by more than a stray sniper or two. Japanese machine-guns and mortars began to fire, and machine-guns answered from our shore.

At about 3 o'clock, the Japanese stormed our position, after successfully running across the bar at the mouth of the Tenaru.

Many of the Japanese were killed, but a few crossed the bar and one hurled a rifle grenade at the position. The Jap who threw the grenade was mortally wounded.

The other Japs who managed to cross the spit of sand also were killed and those behind them driven back by heavy fire from our positions.

In the hours remaining before daylight, the Japs tried many times to cross the bar and wipe out the American position, but each time they failed, and left more dead on the beach. Marine reinforcements were arriving at the outpost with heavy weapons, and each successive attempt was more costly to the Japanese than the preceding one.

The Americans had established a firing line along the bank of the Tenaru. Each time the Jap tried to creep along the sandbar, a blast of heavy fire leaped out to meet the attackers. But the Japs became aware of the American position, and at about 4 o'clock in the morning, they fired flares which showed exactly where the Americans lay.

The Americans "dug in," improved their positions, and held them, despite the fact that they knew by this time that they were faced by a force which was temporarily far superior.

Fire Grows Heavier.
Our artillery began to fire on the Japanese positions in the grove on the other side of the Tenaru.

As the hours before dawn wore on, increasingly heavy fire was directed against the Japs. But the enemy also was bringing up more troops and heavy weapons. The fire grew heavier and more and more concentrated. We heard it from our camp positions a few miles away from the fighting, and knew that a major action was developing.

I arrived at the command post nearest the front lines shortly after daybreak, and watched plans being laid to trap the Japanese. General Alexander A. Vandegrift, commanding general of all Marine forces in the Solomons, had directed that an effort be made to pin the Jap forces down and drive them into the sea.

Instructions Given.
Colonel Cresswell was just at the moment getting his instructions to conduct the movement. Lieutenant Colonel Gerald C. Thomas, General Vandegrift's chief of operations, was laying out the campaign on a map, with suggestions from Colonel Cresswell and Colonel C. B. Gates, the commander of the regiment involved. Colonel Thomas indulged in appropriate profanity.

"We want you to go in here and pin the ——— down," he said.

That was just what Colonel Cresswell did — with improvements.

Colonel Cresswell drove them in a pocket straight towards our positions on the bank of the Tenaru. Meanwhile, there was plenty of tough fighting for our troops on the other bank of the Tenaru, under Lieutenant Colonel Edwin A. Pollock, of Augusta, Ga.

I went up to the very front lines of the Tenaru shortly after that, and watched some of the action—or as much as it is possible to see while you are under machine-gun and rifle fire.

Boys Carled Away.
When I arrived some of the American boys had been carted away. Among the wounded was Lieutenant George Cordrea, of Akron, Ohio, who had command of the platoon which formed our foremost firing line. He had been hit twice in the left arm above the elbow by shrapnel, but although his wounds were exceedingly painful he had continued on foot and continued to direct operations from 4:30 in the morning, when he had been hit, for more than five hours.

Another officer who had a front line position, Second Lieutenant James F. McLaughan, of Washington, D. C., had stayed on the job for two hours after he had been hit to direct operations. He had been wounded in the shoulder and upper leg, but gave orders from a prone position.

But there were many stalwarts still on the scene as we crawled up from the rear, dodging from tree to tree to avoid the Jap fire. Among them was Colonel Pollock, who moved about constantly from position to position, spotting enemy movements, doing his own liaison; apparently he was utterly unharmed by the danger which was still wounding and killing men in the vicinity.

Also very much on deck was Gunner Sergeant Charles E. Angus, of Nashville, Tenn., a famed Marine rifle shot.

Already much on deck was Gunner Sergeant Angus already had killed one Jap with a long shot. I was to watch him kill two more before the afternoon was over.

The Japs were still hurling rifle grenades in our direction, and raking us with machine-gun fire. There was one machine-gun on the spit of sand at the mouth of the Tenaru.

We could not spot it until we saw a hand move above the curve of the beach. Then we ranged our mortar fire into the nest.

The first blast was off; the second nearer. Then, just before the third, we saw a Jap poke up his helmeted head. The shell landed squarely on top, smothering him in black smoke. In the cloud of smoke, three men jumped up and ran for the far end of the bar. But they were cut down by a shower of fire.

Snipers in Trees Killed.
Machine-guns and rifle fire from the other bank still held us up. There also was heavy sniper fire. The snipers were carefully camouflaged, and some were tied in the tops of trees. They had to be spotted and killed one by one.

The machine-gun and rifle fire was roared out partly by our artillery and mortar fire, which we could see blasting into the grove across the river, and finally cleaned up by our tanks, which came through our position, crossed the spit at the mouth of the Tenaru while Jap bullets rattled from their steel surfaces, and then moved their way through the trees, in the coconut grove, blasting many a machine-gun nest.

I later saw one machine-gun nest which had been hit squarely. There were 12 twisted, blasted bodies, many of them half buried in the sandy earth.

Cleanup Work.
After the tanks had done their work, there was little more to the battle—except the advance of Colonel Cresswell's troops across the Tenaru mouth (we had seen them working their way through the rear Jap positions among the coconut trees, heard the rattling of their rifle fire and the booming of their mortars as they worked their way towards us).

Everywhere, the Japanese resisted to the last ounce of life in their bodies. I saw some of them playing dead along the Tenaru spit, saw them stir and try to reach their rifles. I saw these wily people shot for their trouble. I saw others who pretended to be dead, and when the rising tide set them afloat, tried to swim out to sea and swim ashore behind our lines. They were killed as they approached the beach or as they swam out.

Others who were wounded, waited until would-be captors bent over them, and then flung hand grenades into the Americans' faces. There were two such cases reported; fortunately in both cases the thrown grenades missed their target and exploded some distance away.

Strafing of the Japanese by our aircraft also was a sideshow. But possibly a score of Japanese who were carrying supplies ashore from landing boats far down the coast, were killed and wounded in an attack led by Captain Loren D. Everton, of Crofton, Neb.

Seven Japanese Zero fighter aircraft attempted to reach Guadalcanal, apparently in an effort to strafe our forces on the Tenaru, but they were driven off by our fighter aircraft led by Captain John L. Smith, of Lexington, Okla. He is credited with shooting down one of the enemy planes.

U-Boat Chief Said Held in U. S.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—(P)—A German submarine commander whose craft was driven onto a reef after being damaged by an American depth bomb is a prisoner of war in the United States, according to a short wave broadcast picked up by the Boston Globe from the anti-Nazi German radio station Gustav Siegfried 1.

The broadcast, the Globe says, identified the commander as Lieutenant George Stab, who was one of only a few of 18 who escaped from the submarine to survive in an "oil-covered sea."

The information concerning the wrecking of the craft was sent in a letter by Stab to Admiral Donitz, head of the German U-boat fleet, according to the broadcaster, but Hitler censured attempted to change its contents because it referred to a mistake made by a young lieutenant which contributed to the disaster.

The Globe asserted that the broadcaster was apparently the same German army officer who frequently broadcasts over the station and who, although anti-Hitler, is recognized as being ultra-nationalistic, patriotic, anti-British, and anti-Semitic.

The Globe said the broadcaster quoted the letter as follows:

"Only a few of us could survive. Few escaped and fewer still managed to hold out for 50 hours in a stormy, oil-covered ocean. It happened on July 11, at 8:15 p. m., when we were forced down to a depth of 100 feet because of the depth charge attacks of the enemy. Unfortunately, First Mate Holler was injured and had to be replaced by Second Lieutenant Schulz. He took the wheel and made a mistake in calculation. He thought we were still 10 to 12 yards from a reef, when we actually hit it.

"Within two minutes the engine room and the tower were full of water and the boat listed 20 degrees. Eighteen comrades managed to escape the submarine, but 14 of them met death in the oil-covered sea. One man could not swim and sank right away. Two went mad and in their delirium took off their inflated jackets because they thought they saw land."

A rubber raft dropped from an American plane, the letter added, saved the lives of the commander and three others.

The mighty air fleet will be coming along in due time, however. Some of the greatest aircraft plants in the world are now, or soon will be, in production. What we are doing in this direction is utterly staggering. When the time comes, we will send a fleet of great bombers from Alaska to Japan daily, blasting our bamboo cities to bits until the war spirit of the nation is crushed. After that, we will probably turn the haughty little Japanese empire over to the Chinese, the Koreans and the Filipinos to police, and out of that the treacherous Yaps should learn a lesson they will not forget for another thousand years.

Trip to town the other morning recalled the day coach days of youth when a 40-mile journey might necessitate changing trains at Savannah and again at Sweet Gum Junction. Except this trip was all free-free from cinders and eyes and marked by pleasant companionship. Neighbor across the street picked me up at my doorstep and transported me to the top of the long hill, but she was going the wrong way from there so she dumped me out. I had hardly looked up the road for a bus when a friend offered me a seat. But he was stopping for a while at Georgia Tech, so he dropped me at Pershing Point. Within 45 seconds a couple in a car offered me another ride. No interruptions this time, except for a few moments while my host went into the Denton's building to have some dental work done. Real painless dentistry, because he left his fractured uppers to be called for later. His wife confided to me that he always carries a spare. And so to the front door of this esteemed newspaper. Which is service which leaves nothing to be desired.

Letter from anonymous writer in Rome—why are folk so slow about revealing their identity?—calls attention to several of my grammatical sins but especially points out with horror a column on the editorial page in which "whom" appears where "who" should be. I don't know the scholastic rating of my unknown correspondent but she wrote entertainingly and, I think, with due regard to the parts of speech. But she could not know, perhaps, that the columnist she criticized works under tremendously high pressure, with the early edition deadline to catch. My work is ground out in a more leisurely manner because it is usually just morning or two weeks from next Tuesday. So I really have little excuse for sloppy English. Even at that, I fear I shall always be baffled by "who" and "whom." When I revise the grammar and the dictionary I shall cast "whom" into the discard and substitute a pronoun of neuter gender, standing for either "he" or "she." It is a reflection on British-American inventive powers that no such pronoun exists.

A Wider Peachtree.

Mayor Hartsfield hopes to persuade the state highway department to pave Peachtree street from the middle of town to the northern city limits—and I hope it goes through.

The road has been resurfaced for a long way between the city line and Buckhead, and does it look better and ride better? Maybe it's an optical illusion, but Peachtree road looks twice as wide as it used to. It's really a broad thoroughfare, with plenty of space for two lanes of cars on each side.

I think removal of the old car tracks did it. When they were there it was rough traveling. Peachtree road was split into three parts—the left side, the car tracks and the right side. Nobody liked to drive on the tracks or between them.

Now the resurfaced portion presents an unbroken stretch which looks as wide as Old Man River, though it's not as muddy, thank heaven! It certainly does ride nice—in a friend's car.

So Earl Cone has passed on, after a long and useful life. He had been my friend for years. Shortly after I came to Atlanta I was impressed with the modest but forceful slogan he had adopted for his chain of pharmacies—"Cone's—a Good Drug Store."

Unknown person paid an after hours call at a new amusement resort out Spring street and went away with four bows and 200 arrows, which causes many to wonder.

How would you like to go around town trying to dispose of four bows and 200 arrows and attempting to explain where and why you acquired them? But perhaps this chap has become bored with table tennis and badminton and plans a new form of home amusement for his backyard.

Mistress of the Manor directs me to print a correction. Her eldest granddaughter—and mine—is aged 9, not 11. It's tough enough to dress up to look young and have to acknowledge "without adding two years for no reason except a husband's bum memory."

Regiment Back After 4-Day Shuttle Convoy

Troops Cover 285 Miles Before Returning to Motor Base Here.

"We're glad to get back to Atlanta."

These sentiments were expressed last night by soldiers members of a complete Ordnance regiment upon return to the Atlanta Ordnance Motor Base on the old Jonesboro road, after a four-day, 285-mile shuttle-convoy, one of the largest troop movements to leave Atlanta in this war. Part of the Army's training program, a shuttle-convoy is a type during which the troops are transported in Army troop trucks for certain distances and march at intervals with full equipment in order to cover 19 miles a day by foot.

"The boys are stout-hearted men," said Lieutenant Colonel Leon B. Schuh, battalion commander. "I am proud of the perfect record they made and the true American soldier spirit they showed." He said, "and while marching along the highways they sang songs to inspire rhythm for their cadence which never faltered once during the entire trip."

Jap Ship Attacked Off New Guinea

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Saturday, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Allied bombers have attacked a Japanese cruiser off the southeast coast of New Guinea but results of the raid were not known, General MacArthur announced today.

An Allied command headquarters communiqué said that an Allied reconnaissance unit shot down a Japanese Zero fighter plane in a fight at Lae, New Guinea. The Zero was attempting to intercept the Allied unit, the report said.

There was no change in the Milne Bay sector, where the Allies administered a severe defeat to the Japanese.

The communiqué follows: "Northwestern Sector: Activity limited to reconnaissance. "Northeastern Sector: An Allied reconnaissance unit destroyed an enemy Zero plane attempting interception.

"Southeast New Guinea: An Allied medium bomber unit attacked an enemy cruiser with unknown result.

"Milne Bay: No change."

Find Out About Friends' Is Plea Of Talmadge

Governor Makes Last of Friday Night Radio Addresses.

By The Associated Press. Governor Talmadge, concluding his series of Friday night broadcasts in his campaign for re-nomination, last night urged his friends to go to the polls early Wednesday and vote, "and then stay there and see that you have an honest election."

"Get busy Tuesday," he said. "Find out about your friends. Then get them out at the polls Wednesday, and when you count out the full precincts where you vote wire it to the folks in Atlanta and you'll hear it popping back out of the radio."

The Governor was introduced by Madge Moore, Athens stenographer who took the minutes of a meeting which several months ago resulted in charges against, and the eventual ouster, of Dr. Walter D. Cocking from the University System of Georgia on grounds that he had advocated race co-eduction.

Miss Moore told of notes she took at that meeting, and in introducing the Governor referred to him as "the brave man who saved the University from disgrace."

Talmadge in his address said that "the little old myth about our colleges has been answered here tonight by a good, Christian southern woman."

He said there were reports that over 4,000 Negroes were registered for the coming primary, adding, "I want to tell you that this is a Democratic white primary."

To give employment and to get employment. . . . A Want Ad in The Constitution is equally effective in both cases.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

THE VINE OF SODOM. Sunday's lesson, "The Alcohol Problem, Past and Present," is based on the following passages: Genesis 13:13 and 19:23-25; Deuteronomy 32:31-33, and Amos 6:1-7. The golden text: "The way of the ungodly shall perish," Psalm 1:6.

So often, in discussions of the liquor problem, people allow themselves to become involved in partisan debates over methods of fighting this age-long evil, winding up with heated arguments only over this or that human estimate and scheme. It seems to me that we may wisely save a lot of time in our approach to this problem by agreement that God's Word always speaks the first and last word on every subject affecting the well-being of humanity.

For that reason, our Sunday school literature has, for many years, devoted periodic study to this vital matter of temperance. And the lesson for Sunday is one of the most helpful presentations of this subject we have had in a long time.

"But the men of Sodom were wicked and sinners before the Lord exceedingly. . . . Their vine is the vine of Sodom. . . . Their grapes are grapes of gall, their clusters are bitter; their wine is the poison of dragons, and the cruel venom of asps. . . . Woe to them that are ease in Zion. . . ."

Workers Protest Labor Day Layoff

DETROIT, Sept. 4.—(AP)—CIO spokesmen protested today against Labor Day shutdowns of war plants they said had been ordered by Chrysler Corporation and the Ford Motor Company.

Tracy M. Doll, president of the Detroit CIO Council, said he telegraphed President Roosevelt and War Production Board officials that all Chrysler employees except those at work in the Detroit tank arsenal had been notified not to report for work Monday.

A Chrysler Corporation spokesman said that "any department which is behind schedule or has trouble getting into full production will use that day (Monday) to full advantage."

United Automobile Workers (CIO) members posted outside Ford's Lincoln Motor plant a sign reading "Monday we work for Hitler."

A Ford spokesman declined comment on the union statements. At War Production Board offices here, a spokesman said an original request from Donald Nelson, WPB chief, that war plants operate on the holiday applied only to "vitally needed" plant operations.

Nazi Planes Said Needed in Russia

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—German Aviation General Erich Kammhuber said today in a broadcast heard here that every plane that could be spared must be used for the battle of Russia.

"We must avoid at all costs weakening our air force in Russia," the general said, "in fact we cannot be strong enough."

Observers here said the explanation probably was offered because the Germans must be wondering why Britain no longer is heavily bombed by the Nazi air force.

Capitol Homes Observe First Anniversary

Ed S. Cook, Resident Manager, Honored at Celebration.

Tenants at Capitol Homes last night gathered to celebrate the first anniversary of the opening of that low-rent housing project and to make a gesture of appreciation to Ed S. Cook, resident manager of the project who has guided its destinies from the time the site was still under construction.

Held in the community building on Memorial drive, the affair was climaxed by the presentation of a set of monogrammed sterling silver goblets to Cook. The presentation was made by Mrs. Fred Barr, who was the first tenant to make application for a home in the project.

Every family living in Capitol Homes contributed to the gift, it was announced.

BALL PLAYER-SOLDIER

LOST BAGGAGE HERE

Editor Constitution: My brother was coming home from spring baseball training in Ocala, Fla., to volunteer for the service, he changed buses, rather he made a stopover at Atlanta, his two (2) bags with all of his clothing were taken off by mistake and some one in your city took them.

I said they were taken because there were plenty of identification tags, letters and address book in them, besides the "Milwaukee B. B." club stickers on them. My brother has been in the service since April, and is in a foreign country.

Now I want to thank the person that took those bags and let him know that we did our damndest to get those bags as we're not rich, and he did my younger brother out of a lot of clothes which he needed badly.

FORMER SUPPORTER NOW LEAVES TALMADGE

Editor Constitution: I am enclosing herewith letter which I have today written Governor Talmadge upon receiving a letter from him expressing his appreciation of my co-operation and support in helping him two years ago.

A. G. PRATT.

Hon. Eugene Talmadge, Room 508, Ansley hotel, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Governor:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated July 17, 1942, in which it is noted that at last you recall with appreciation our splendid co-operation and support in helping to put Fulton county in the Talmadge column two years ago, and that you are counting on us again this time.

It is true that the Pratt's and our friends went out of our way to support you two years ago, but not until I was assured by members of your club that you had solemnly promised that you would cut out all radical tantrums, and keep your feet securely on the ground. It was on the strength of those promises that I agreed to help elect you to the office of Governor.

I recall that Fulton county never had been found in the Talmadge column, and it was your urgent appeal to us that you would like, above all else, to carry Fulton county.

You also asked for DeKalb county (my son, Preston, lived in DeKalb) and to your surprise both counties were found in the Talmadge column.

Out of modesty I do not claim that the Pratt's did it.

At this date it does look ungrateful to say the least for you to wait two years to acknowledge by letter above mentioned, in expressing so much appreciation for our wholehearted support. Never before in all my 22 years in government service has anyone presumed on my good nature to the extent you have.

I have the conviction that your stand on the educational system of the state is untenable, and is to the detriment of our sons and daughters, and that your belligerent attitude toward the Washington administration is most regrettable at this time.

I am a champion of education in all of its branches, and I am a champion of the farmer. I for one am not deceived on issues, and my sympathies go out to our university system, also to the tiller of the soil, the farmer.

The people of Georgia are hungry for a return to dignity in office.

Cordially yours, A. G. PRATT.

Atlanta.

79-YEAR-OLD CITIZEN SHAMED BY TALMADGE

Editor, Constitution: I wish to write this letter to express the feelings of a 79-year-old man, citizen of Georgia, regarding the Governor's race now in progress in this, m. state.

During my time I have had the opportunity to observe a large number of Governors and never in my knowledge has our state been run by such a dictator. Never have the citizens of my state been deprived of the rights in the government and our wishes ignored. I am opposed to giving Talmadge another term to disgrace the name of Georgia.

During the past several months I have traveled to the west coast and from the criticism from other states, it is embarrassing to a Georgian to make himself known because of the young Hitler we have as a dictator.

I do not believe that the good people of Georgia will let bug-writers, bootleggers and chain-gang crowd re-elect a liquor-drinking Governor for Georgia. The good people of this state must do something about it.

I sincerely hope that the people of the state of Georgia will make a change on September 9.

IMPORTANT

To Our Country's War Effort....

KEEP TELEPHONE LINES CLEAR!

Since December 7th our telephone companies have repeatedly requested, in advertisement after advertisement, that only necessary calls be made in order that telephone facilities be kept open for the Important Business of Winning the War.

Failure to co-operate with these requests when our country is threatened with the most serious crisis in history—for the advancement of selfish, personal ambitions can be classified only one way—UNPATRIOTIC!

Everyone associated with the campaign of Robert Ramspeck appreciates the necessity of keeping our communications open for this most important job. We would like very much to have committees call you on the telephone and ask you in turn to call some friend of yours in the interest of the re-election of Robert Ramspeck—but duty to our country will not allow us to violate or ignore the requests for clear communications lines.

Therefore, you will receive no telephone calls asking you to vote for Robert Ramspeck. This, however, does not mean that your vote and active support are not fully appreciated, but, for reasons stated above, calls will not be made.

Combination Pay Roll, Sales Tax Proposed

Senator Estimates Levies Would Raise 5 Billions Annually.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A proposal to couple a 5 per cent retail sales tax with a 5 per cent pay roll levy to raise $5,000,000,000 annually was advanced tonight by Senator Guffey, Democrat, Pennsylvania, as the Senate Finance Committee delayed action until next week on tax schedules for individuals in the new revenue bill.

Guffey told reporters he planned to force a showdown at the next meeting of the committee Tuesday on adopting a sales tax in lieu of a treasury proposal for stiff levies on individual expenditures. Chairman George, Democrat, Pennsylvania, said he expected a vote on the question Tuesday.

Guffey said he was sponsoring a proposal to place a flat 5 per cent tax on pay rolls, calculated to yield $2,000,000,000 annually. He figured that a 5 per cent sales tax on "everything except rent" would bring in an additional $3,000,000,000.

Stamp Levy. The spending tax proposal found little sympathy with finance committee members. They discussed at length during the day a program by Senator Danaher, Republican, Connecticut, to collect about $4,000,000,000 annually by a 10 per cent stamp tax levy on retail sales.

Under this plan, the individual taxpayer would be given certain specified exemptions. For every dollar purchase over that amount, he would have to buy a 10-cent stamp. When $25 worth of these stamps had been collected, he could exchange them for a government bond, which he could use in paying his income tax or could hold until after the war to exchange for cash.

Treasury representatives were reported to have objected that this would yield no new revenue but would merely provide for advance collection of regular income taxes and for post-war rebates. They were said to have argued also that a "black market" for the sale of stamps at less than their face value would probably develop.

Ease Regulations. Congressional experts told the committee, however, that a five per cent retail sales levy would be feasible and would raise approximately $2,500,000,000 annually.

The committee eased the regulations under which contributions to an employee's pension trust, and adopted the rates previously approved by the house for the capital gains tax.

Under existing law, 70 per cent of a firm's employees must participate in a pension plan before the employer can make a tax-free contribution to the trust's reserve fund. The committee voted to allow the contributions if 56 per cent of the employees were covered.

The house bill set up two classes of capital gains and losses: Short-term, resulting from the sale or exchange of assets held not over 15 months, and long-term, resulting from sale or exchange of assets held more than 15 months.

The senate committee voted to make the dividing line 13 rather than 15 months.

It approved the house rates, however. Long-term gains are to be subjected to a maximum rate of 25 per cent in the case of corporations and short-term gains to the regular corporation rate of 45 per cent.

Army's Desert Don't Leave Me While I'm Here, Crew Praised F.D.R. Tells 2 Veteran Clerks In Maneuvers Armored Forces Past First Test at California Proving Ground.

By WILLIAM F. BONI.

WITH U. S. ARMY ON CALIFORNIA DESERT TRAINING MANEUVERS, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Our Army's desert combat crews, praised by three high-ranking officers for the way they passed their first maneuver test, moved into prebattle bivouacs tonight to await the starting signal of the next exercise in this tough California proving ground.

If there was lingering doubt in anyone's mind that these men are nearing the final stage of training, it was dispelled effectively by Major General Alvan C. Gillem Jr., maneuver director, when he told the Blue Army's officers at their briefing:

"These maneuvers are different from any we have held before—because the first week's maneuvers at such a tremendous pace; second, because after this maneuver we won't be able to go home for the winter and correct our mistakes."

Like Major General Homer C. Brown, Red force commander, in his critique, Gillem expressed general satisfaction with the way the troops carried out their assignments. In this he was supported by Major General Robert C. Richardson Jr., corps commander who directs the Blues, who stressed particularly the improvement in communications, but both found several points to criticize.

Said Gillem:

"Being a great football fan, I'd say that the first week's maneuvers has shown we are weak in fundamentals. . . . There was not sufficient recognition of air attack by troops on the ground, a number of gun batteries were manned incompletely, mechanized units did not make full use of their armor plate when moving against the enemy."

"If we are to succeed in this war, officers with men's lives at stake must be meticulous in their tactical operations. When you issue an order you must make sure it is checked all along the line. . . . We cannot do anything without complete integration of aviation and ground forces. . . . Every minute of the day we must keep uppermost the thought that we are the trustees of the American people. We have the guts, the education, the science, the skill and one thing no other nation in the world has—we have the best-intentioned people in the world."

General Brown and General Richardson again will lead the opposing armies in the new exercise, a three-day problem for which "zero hour" has been set at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Maid Is Killed, 10 Injured in N. Y. Explosion

Police Theorize Sparks From Door Buzzer Set Off Gas.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A maid pressed a button in the service hall of a fashionable midtown apartment building today—and touched off an earth-shaking explosion that cost her life, injured 10 other persons and caused many to believe an air raid had occurred.

The body of a second woman, already dead when the blast rattled a 10-block area north and east of Grand Central station, was found in the gas-filled apartment wrecked by the blast.

The maid, Margaret Burke, 36, was reporting for work when she shifted her finger to ring the bell of her employer, Mrs. David Cameron Oswald, 38.

Door Sealed by Tape. Inside the Oswald apartment—examination by police later revealed—long strips of adhesive tape sealed the kitchen door. In the kitchen was the body of Mrs. Oswald, dead at least nine and a half hours, according to Medical Examiner Eugene Clark's estimate. Gas poured from the open jet of the door.

Police theorize that sparks from the electric buzzer set off accumulated gas.

The resulting explosion blew out windows, cracked ceilings and walls of the 15-story building, and frightened hundreds of residents. Three women in near-by apartments were thrown out of bed. Hundreds of police, firemen, air raid wardens and members of the city patrol corps rushed to the scene.

Debris Covers Body. Debris covered the body of Mrs. Oswald. Miss Burke died soon after she was taken to a hospital. The death of Mrs. Oswald, a private airplane pilot, was "obviously a suicide," Dr. Clark said.

Reached at Garrison, N. Y., Mrs. Oswald's husband, the representative of a lumber mill, returned this afternoon and told police he and his wife had made arrangements for a separation. He said he urged her last Saturday to abandon the idea, but that she refused.

Authorities said the Oswalds moved into the Buchanan apartments, on Third avenue between 47th and 48th streets, last October, shortly after they were married.

Mystery Cloaks Death of Paint Executive's Wife

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Dwight P. Joyce, wife of a vice president of the Glidden Company, paint and food manufacturers, was found shot to death in her bedroom today and Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said "it might be suicide and it might be murder."

Dr. Gerber said a 22-caliber bullet, fired from a target pistol, went directly through Mrs. Joyce's heart.

Mrs. Joyce, 41, was the mother of four children. Her husband has been a Cleveland leader in the United States Civil Air Patrol.

Bank clearings amounted to $15,600,000 yesterday compared with $13,900,000 for the corresponding day last year.

John C. Cook, of Cascade road, route 4, will be Georgia's representative to the Great Council of the United States Improved Order of Redmen to be held September 11 through 18 at Richmond, Va. He was recently made one of the Redmen Wigwag at 160 Central avenue.

Georgia Civil Engineer Society will entertain a picnic and banquet at 7 o'clock Friday night at the Lakewood Club, on the Roswell road.

Art courses will begin Tuesday at the Atlanta Opportunity school. Classes will be held daily from 9:45 to 12:45 and are open to the public with payment of the registration fee.

Miss Ruth Blair, executive secretary of the Atlanta Historical Society, has been elected a vice president of the Conference of Historical Societies in the United States and Canada. She has served on national committees to organize the American Legal Society and the Society of American Archivists.

Bride in Florida Weds Groom in Scotland

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 4.—(AP)—A bride here and a groom in Scotland were newlyweds today with the entire Atlantic ocean between them.

Miss Ronda Hastings, of New York, signed her name to a wedding contract instead of saying the usual "I do's." The groom, Lieutenant Norris Stayton, a British army officer on duty in Scotland, took part through an attorney, Manley P. Caldwell.

The attorney, to signify the bridegroom's assent to the marriage, read a telegram, which said: "I will marry you, Ronda Hastings, by proxy in Florida and hereby appoint Manley P. Caldwell, of West Palm Beach, my attorney-in-fact, to enter into the contract of marriage with you."

Miss Hastings became Mrs. Stayton by signing her name to the document in the attorney's office. The contract was filed with the clerk of circuit court. The bride intends to join her husband as soon as she can obtain a passport.

A Trial Separation May Give Girl Perspective on Marriage

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie: I am 19 years old and have been married for one year to a 24-year-old man whom I do not love. He is good to me, but I think about it that I am really in love with a boy who is 23. He wants me to marry him, and I love him so very much. I believe him when he tells me he loves me. I know that he does not go with other girls. I do not know what to do. I can never give him up. My mother is very fond of my husband, but when he is around me I feel as though I hate him.

BROWN EYES. Of course where you made your big mistake was not considering the difference in your ages before you married him. And another thing, you should have, at 19, been wildly in love with the man you married. An older woman looks on love with a more sensible viewpoint, but at 19 it is romance with a capital R, and the world is happy with you, the sky is bluest and the birds are singing the loudest. I would suggest a trial separation in order that you may figure out for yourself whether this love you have for the younger man is merely an infatuation or the real thing. If you could arrange to go away or to separate from your husband for awhile I think that perhaps you can get a different viewpoint on everything. I think your husband is entirely too old for you and with such a difference in your ages there is slight chance for a happy life. The odds are against you both, for he is old enough to be your father and almost your grandfather. I know you love the young man, but I would suggest you curb your enthusiasm about him to the extent that you not cause yourself to be talked about. It seems to me that your mother would understand your problem and would help you in some way to get out of this situation.

HOW TO WRITE TO A SOLDIER

Dear Dixie: I am just another "girl left behind" seeking an answer to a very important question. I feel sure you can help me, as you seem always to have the right answer to other people's problems. Recently my boy friend joined the armed forces and, of course, I'm very proud of him. What I'd like to know is this: How can I write him interesting letters? What would he be most interested in? What can I write that will keep him from worrying about home and getting homesick? I feel sure you can tell me what to write, and would it be proper to send him small gifts to let him know I'm thinking of him? If so, what would you suggest? I understand why he can write only once a week, but would I be too bold to write often? Please tell me what to do as I have his interest alone at heart.

A SOLDIER'S SWEETHEART

Write him cheerful letters. Tell him what the crowd he knew is doing, and where some of his buddies have been sent. Tell him about the defense work you and your friends are doing and that every minute you work you think that it will go to help him help win the war. Do not tell him any bad news. Do not tell him that you are miserable because he has gone away and that you will die if he does not come back, or that you cry yourself to sleep every night worrying about him. The boys in camp have enough to worry them without having to hear all about it from their best girl. Instead, tell him, for one thing, that every night before you go to bed you strike out one day on the calendar as one day less for his return. Tell him that every time you think of him you just burst with pride to think that he is doing his part to hasten the war's end in order to come home. If you know of any particular thing he was interested in while at home you might scan the papers for clippings and send them to him so he can keep up on the local news. If he liked baseball keep tab on the Crackers or any other team he might be interested in and send him some pieces which he would not see otherwise. There is a lot in the paper about defense work around here, he might like to know how the folks back home are taking it. I think some gifts would be fine to send him. Food from home is always good, as are cigarettes. If he likes to keep a diary I think that would be nice. Magazines would be good, too. The stores are filled with useful and timely gifts for the boys in service, so why not tour one of the stores sometimes and get an idea? I think two letters a week for you to write would be sufficient, but certainly not more than three. And remember, above all, be cheerful, but let him know you miss him.

War marriages have reached an all-time high, and the crop of war babies continues to be record-setting. Mothers of war babies are young, the average age is about 19, and these young mothers want pretty dresses to wear while waiting for the stork's visit. The two dresses shown were designed for young war mothers-to-be. Left, is a shirtwaist-type maternity dress in rayon, cleverly cut and well tailored. Snaps at each side of the box-pleated panel adjust the waistline under the tie belt. The bodice is yoked, and has arrow embroidery for buttonholes and collar. Right: This is a rayon woven like wool. Shirring below the shoulder provides bodice fullness and the tie-front belt conceals elasticized shirred fullness at the waist. Both dresses are priced at $7.98, and are available at a local store. MY DAY: America's Pioneer Aviatix

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Thursday.—My mention of women aviators the other day has brought me a very charming letter about "America's pioneer aviatix," Mrs. Katherine Stinson Otero. The letter was written by D. S. McMillan, lieutenant, junior grade, U. S. N. R., and I feel sure he will not mind my mentioning it. He tells me Mrs. Otero taught her famous Stinson brothers to fly, that she was the first woman to accomplish the loop, and in the last war gave valuable service to the country in aviation training. The courage which she showed in her flying, she has had to use in later life in a long fight against tuberculosis. For the past 20 years she has lived in Santa Fe, N. M. Lieutenant McMillan spent a year in the same sanitarium and he pays her a tribute of which I think any one of us would be proud: "She constantly showed the same bravery of heart and courageous spirit that she displayed as a pilot, and this spirit served splendidly to help maintain the morale of the patients who knew her and knew how close to her heart was the aviation life, which adversity had forced her to give up forever."

Accepting the inevitable is forced upon us all. Doing it cheerfully and making the most of our lives with whatever we have at hand is a lesson which a great many of us will have to teach ourselves, or will have to help some dear one near us to learn in the course of the next few years. So the story of Katherine Stinson Otero is one I am glad to remember and happy to pass on in the hope that it may help others. It was a moving sight this morning to watch the President deliver his speech to youth, and to note the intense faces gathered about him. The members of the steering committee and the men and women in uniform of the various delegations had come as representatives of the whole International Student Assembly to meet the President and to listen to him in the small diplomatic reception room. I always feel that it is a great responsibility and a tremendous challenge to talk to youth, because anything less than complete sincerity is detected and discounted. There was no question about the acceptance of the sincerity of the purpose as expressed in this speech. While it carried a pledge primarily to youth of our own country, it answered many questions as to the attitude of our leaders in this country which has been in the minds of young people of the other nations.

Suggested Substitutes For Castor Oil

By Dr. William Brady.

The most practical and helpful idea or suggestions in this column are given the conductor by medical colleagues. Recently we said here that acute diarrhoea without pain, cramps or vomiting, in infants or adults, is generally due to improper food and may be treated safely with (1) an immediate dose of fresh castor oil, and (2) a fast from all food until the castor oil has swept out the irritating or improper food residues. From one to two teaspoonsful is the dose of castor oil for an infant; from one to three tablespoonsful for an adult. This brought a communication for a medical colleague: Dear Doctor Brady: Your suggestion of castor oil for acute diarrhoea calls for a reprint, and all for the good of the order. A highly praised physician in says that castor oil should never be introduced into the alimentary canal. He asserts that if succus entericus (the fluid secretion in the normal intestine) is placed on the back of the hand and a little castor oil is added on the same spot it will raise a blister. If that is true (and the physician is positive about it) then what will it do to the tender lining of the intestines? It is true that the costiveness or "binding" effect following a dose of castor oil is more marked than that following any other purgative. However, I haven't prescribed or given a dose of castor oil in the last 20 years. I am certain it holds no place in therapeutics that can't be filled by other purgatives. (Signed) M. D. In that article I said: "Hold on, kids, we're coming to you. The castor oil is for infants, grownups—infants don't seem to mind taking it and grownups dare not make a fuss about it even if they hate the stuff. . . . and went on to tell the youngsters of America that they may quote me to Mom, Pop, or Aunt Bedelia, as authority for the statement that Aromatic Syrup of Rhubarb, sometimes called Spiced Syrup of Rhubarb, in the same doses for the same purposes, will accomplish everything castor oil can accomplish as a medicine—and, of course, it is not a bit unpleasant to take a snifter of Aromatic Syrup of Rhubarb. I'm still wondering why I reverted to castor oil for infants or adults, in that article on summer complaints. I thank the doctor for the reprint. I deserved it. I promise you won't get any more castor oil in this column for a long while to come, that is, not as a physic. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Chafing. May I offer my remedy to prevent chafing after bathing or after active exercise in summer heat?

School Bells Mean Glamor For Child Stars On The Movie Lots

By Harold Heffernan.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 4.—School bells are ringing these days for millions of children throughout the land, but for a very special assortment of young folks in Hollywood and Los Angeles county, those bells will peal out a very glamorous tone. Some fun, eh—going to school on a movie lot? Imagine passing Betty Grable, Mickey Rooney or Betty Davis on your way to classes. Or sitting right next to Hedy Lamarr or Spencer Tracy during your noon-hour lunch period. That's exactly the experience facing some 50 Hollywood kids come September 10, when a semester begins on the most glittering campus in the world. The alma mater of these children will be the particular studio at which they are highly paid actors and actresses and their campus will be handsomely decorated set of the movie on which they happen to be working. The Hollywood version of the little red school house doesn't otherwise differ much from the original model, especially so far as curriculum is concerned. However, out here on the movie lot, with its ever-present danger of sneak visitations from the sky by the little brown men, air raid drills and first aid work are to be required studies. At 20th Century-Fox young Roddy McDowell will begin his second year of education while working, and so will his sister, Virginia, who this year goes into the tenth grade. Their classmates will be Elena Verdugo, Ann Todd and June Haver. At Warner Brothers, Joan Leslie, Dolores Moran, Patty Hale and their teacher will take the same old school seats they filled last year. At Paramount, Diana Lynn, Susanna Foster, Gail Russell and Ann Rooney have just enrolled. Universal's lovely Gloria Jean, Peggy Ryan and Sabu have already started studying in preparation for school opening and at R-K-O, Joan Carroll and Nancy Gates will be two lone occupants of the school. M.-C.-M. will have the largest enrollment and also the youngest "personality" pupil. Students at the Culver City establishment will be Bobby Blake, Janet Burston, Jackie Horner, Darla Hood, Vicki Lane, William Laughlin, Beverly Jean Saul, William Thomas, Virginia Weidler and Margaret O'Brien. Youngest enrollee is five-year-old Margaret O'Brien, who will probably draw extravagant praise for her work in the title role of "Journey for Margaret" when it is released a few weeks hence. It will be Margaret's first attendance at any school, but she can read, write and "work problems," as she puts it. Miss Mary MacDonald, assigned by the Los Angeles board of education to direct the school at M.-C.-M., said that in addition to air raid drills, an extensive course in Red Cross first aid instruction will be given the older students. Miss MacDonald is the teacher who graduated Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Lana Turner, Gene Reynolds and many others now famous. Banna Durbin was one of her students six years ago and more recently, Shirley Temple. Around these film children, as they study, will move the world's most glamorous personalities—but don't be too envious of them. They must assimilate a full day's work in three hours for that is the daily time allotted to study in the studios. And at the end of every school year the movie student must appear before a board of education examiner and pass the same final tests as anonymous Billy Jones from the other side of the tracks. That's tough enough—but it isn't all. In addition to studying school work, the film juvenile also has a bundle of dialogue to memorize for his picture role each day. He also must rehearse his lines and action, submit to constant make-up and master a score of unexpected small arts called for in whatever picture claims him. And his teacher is no special employee hired to coddle young stars or make their way easy for them. At 20th Century-Fox, for instance, Roddy McDowell and his four classmates will be instructed by Frances Klant, a veteran of the Los Angeles school system. Miss Klant looks easy-going, but she's a stickler for discipline and plenty of home work—as a certain young woman named Shirley Temple can attest. It was Miss Klant who gave Shirley all of her early schooling, when the name of Temple was No. 1 at the box office. These teachers sometimes have to be bilingual. Occasionally, there are little Dutch, German, French and Belgian children called in to work on the current cycle of wartime movies, and all of them must receive a daily schooling, according to law. Practically none can understand anything but their native tongue. What kind of pupils do the movie kids make? Well, no actor under 18 has ever flunked a grade, yet. Most of them graduate well under 18. And their examination marks are in keeping with their already brilliant start in life. But it's still school, and it still looms ominously for a score or more of them on September 10. And there's one choice, bit of glamour they can't dip their fingers into—and that's where anonymous Billy Jones from the other side of the tracks has it all over them: Film kids can't play hooky. There's a guard at every gate!

Only Two Exercises a Day Give You a Trim Waistline

By Ida Jean Kain.

You can take your choice. You can eat and exercise, or you can eat and not exercise and lose your figure. It's in Ann Miller's contract to keep slim. She can't choose. But the way she sees it, any woman who doesn't exercise just about as much as she needs of feeling good, I feel lousy. I put on weight—sometimes as much as five pounds in three days—and most of it in my own way. And I pant when I exert myself, and she does one 100 times a day, and about half that many counts for the other one. "Just two," she emphasizes, "and if a woman will do them that many times, she can't possibly get fat." And, I might put in, if she's fat she can't possibly do them! But here they are—two exercises, simple, apart, arms stretched overhead, and bend down to the left side to touch right hand to floor on far side of left foot. That makes you stretch and twist your waist and it's farewell to the inches. Straighten up and swing the other side. The second exercise is a variation of the same—stretch tall and pull up with the stomach muscles as you bend your back parallel to floor, sides, then front. That's all! For general exercise, "There's nothing better than walking. But not in high heels! You can't walk right in high heels. And if a woman is overweight, nothing looks worse than pushing along in high heels, especially on a hot day. It gives her an awful figure." Ann has another subject on which she is outspoken: She does not like artificial blond hair, not on herself. "I don't like it in the least," she declares, "but they seem to think it's in the interest of photography!" Yes, being a film actress has its drawbacks—but lack of exercise is not among them. Send stamped return envelope for the "Count Your Calories Chart" and see just how many calories you get each day. Then balance your menu according to the protective food list.

Gasoline Aid For Salesmen Will Be Studied

Congressional Delegations To Affected Areas To Meet.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Representative Woodrum, Democrat, Virginia, announced today that a meeting of congressional delegations from states in the gasoline rationed zone to discuss relief for traveling salesmen would be held Thursday morning, September 10, in the caucus room, House Office building.

He said a poll he had made of the delegations from the rationed zone indicated "it would be advisable for us to get together and go over the situation to see if anything can be done by concerted action."

He said he was convinced that members from the zone were "more or less of one opinion as to the discrimination and unfairness" of some gasoline rationing policies, particularly those affecting salesmen.

Heroism Medal Sought For Georgia Sergeant

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. OGLETHORPE, Ga., Sept. 4.—It is learned here that Sergeant E. L. Swope, of the air base near DeRidder, La., has been recommended for the soldier's medal by commanding officer, Major General Edward H. Brooks, because of his courage and quick thinking in saving the pilot, Lieutenant Philip G. Cook, and Private William M. Parker, of Oglethorpe, from a flaming death in a wrecked plane near that air field.

Arriving first at the scene after the crash, Sergeant Swope beat out flames with his bare hands and tore the burning cloth out of the cockpit where the pilot was trapped.

The Oglethorpe soldier received a broken arm in the accident.

Scrap Dealers Get Award at Columbus

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 4.—An award for outstanding service was made Thursday by the War Production Board to J. T. Knight & Son, Inc., local scrap dealers. This is the first such honor to be conferred in the Columbus area.

The honor emblem, 2½ feet by four feet, and bearing the legend, "Co-operation with the War Production Board—Scrap Producer," was presented by James T. Bray, WPB representative. The emblem was given to James B. Knight Jr., president of the organization. It corresponds to the Navy E which has been awarded to factories over the nation for outstanding production in the war effort.

When Hank Ford turns out a bomber an hour that means 8,760 a year with no time out for lunch.

It means the American Air Force can bomb Europe every day on schedule, including local stops.

By that time Mr. Hitler is sure going to have a bit of Ford fatigue.

Plane Workers Given Medical Care To Conserve Manpower

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—(AP)—One hundred thousand aviation workers a month are receiving first aid in American factories.

This rate, the Aero Medical Association was told today, is an indication of a great change, almost a revolution in ideas of medical and social care, whose purpose is to conserve manpower. The report was made by Dr. Fenn E. Poole, medical director for Lockheed at Burbank, Cal.

Only about 5 per cent of the 100,000, he said, are accidents, and these mostly cuts and scratches, immediately treated to reduce infection. The rest are ill with all sorts of complaints. The figure, he said, is not high compared with other industries.

Higher Age of Workers. The doctors are dealing not only with standard industrial diseases, but also with health problems from age, housing, nutrition and all the common ills. The new idea is that ultimately manpower will be so strained that even limited physical ability must be handled so that more people can work.

One new cause of treating more illness is the higher age of the workers. They used to be mostly in the low 20s in aviation. For the older group there is a pre-placement medical examination to discover a person's physical limitations and fit him into a job he can stand.

Food Is Problem. Food is another newly recognized industrial problem. The answer, Dr. Poole said, seems to be to teach workers good food habits so that they will get the vitamins with meals instead of from pills. Nevertheless, Lockheed is now giving a test group of 1,250 employees supplemental vitamins to make sure. The test is not yet complete.

In Canada women have outdone the men in feeding the Royal Air Corps properly. This was reported by Captain J. W. Tice, M. D., assistant medical director, General Medical Service, Royal Canadian Air Force.

Analysis of meals showed that there was much vitamin loss in cooking, especially vitamin C. When women were called in to supervise this job, both cooking and palatability improved. At some isolated air stations for a time deficient of vitamin C caused unhealthy gums, and a few cases of scurvy.

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

It's Worth While The question often arises about this time of the year—in Southern League towns where it's nip and tuck for places in the Shaughnessy play-off—if players really care about extending the season.

Would you be interested in hitting a jackpot, striking gold, obtaining a new set of automobile tires or licking the Axis?

In the first place, a spot in the play-off means extra pay. A player's salary goes on so long as his team is in the running. With a manager it's different. He gets his money anyway.

It is worth $1,000 for the winning team in the play-off, in addition to the salary.

Beyond that there is the revenue from the Dixie series. Players share in the first four games.

It is most desirable, in our league, for the pennant winner to go all the way.

A player of the pennant team finds it financially worth while in winning everything. It's worth $1,000 for pennant, another grand for the play-off, and if the Dixie series draws at all well, the entire total may run as high as $6,000 or $7,000. Not a bad melon to cut. Players usually vote a full share for 17 members and cut in the trainer, clubhouse attendant and mascot for varying amounts.

So it is obvious that a team makes a great effort to be in the play-off. Anything can happen in a short series. Many times a fourth-place club has survived and gone into the Dixie series.

The pressure is on right now and a team, like Chattanooga, with nothing to gain or lose, plays footloose and fancy free and makes a struggling team look bad.

Team of Destiny Little Rock seems a team of destiny, like the 1938 Crackers. Remember the Crackers of '38? It was Paul Richards' first year as manager. He had succeeded Eddie Moore, whose record had been two pennants and a third-place finish.

The '38 Crackers had good pitching, but beyond that they caught the fire of inspiration and made a clean sweep. They won the All-Star game, pennant, play-off and Dixie series.

Little Rock may win everything—except the All-Star game—this season.

Atlanta may not have been the best team in the Southern League in '38, but it was unbeatable.

Little Rock may not be, man for man, as good as Nashville.

But the record won't show it.

Good pitching, hustle and a steady defense will win.

A team that won't be beat can't be beat.

Little Rock was due for a terrible slump and twice did lose first place after more than a month of pace setting.

But when the issue was plain, the Pebbles knocked off Atlanta and then Nashville.

In Atlanta and Nashville.

That's the real test.

The Pebbles have what it takes in the clutch. It should be no trouble for them to earn the right to represent the Southern League in the series against the Texas play-off winner.

It Would Help If it should work out that Little Rock, Nashville, Birmingham and New Orleans are the first division, or play-off teams, it will be financially fine for the league.

Birmingham people are strong for a team in the play-off. They haven't had one. New Orleans hasn't had one since Larry Gilbert.

The Barons threatened last year, but they didn't make it.

I can see Zipp Newman smoking on that cigar and the hopeful look on Bob Phillips' face.

They have been long-suffering in the Baron cause.

New Orleans would greet a play-off team with open arms.

They'll turn out, 10,000 or better, for most of the games.

Either New Orleans or Birmingham likely would outdraw Nashville and Little Rock.

Little Rock isn't having the attendance that a first-place team justifies.

The management, however, has no kick coming.

A charge of 10 cents for a bottle of water isn't likely to encourage a fellow who pays 85 cents to get in the gate.

Southern Grid Officials Meet Golden Terror, Manager Beat 2 Opponents In Charlotte

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 4.—(P)—Approximately three score members of the Southern Football Officials' Association registered here tonight, the eve of their annual convention.

Early arrivals included three of the organization's chief officials: Paul Menton, chief umpire; George C. Gardner, chief linesman; and Battle Bagley, chief judge. James P. Cheves, chief referee, is expected tomorrow.

A general assembly will be held tomorrow morning, after which there will be separate school sessions for referees, umpires, linesmen and judges.

The afternoon will be given over to uniform inspection and speed tests which will be directed by Arthur Hutchens, of Lake Wales, Fla., director of the Association's Booking Bureau. He also will direct rules and physical examinations.

The association, which serves both the Southern and Southeastern Conferences, has a membership of about 200, but because of inroads made upon the membership by military duty, attendance this year likely will be smaller than heretofore.

After a rule interpretation session Sunday, presided over by Georgia Tech Coach William A. Alexander, of Atlanta, Ga., a member of the national rules committee, the meeting will adjourn.

Golden Terror, Manager Beat 2 Opponents

The 340-pound Golden Terror, with the assistance of his pug dog manager, kept his local string of ring successes intact by defeating Dorv Roche and Jack Kennedy two falls to one in a team match last night at the city auditorium.

Dorv Roche and Jack Kennedy tore into the Terror and his round sidekick with plenty of determination in the first session, but went down after 19 minutes of tussling. The Terror was ousted first by the towering Roche and then there was little left for Roche to do but succumb to the combined efforts of the masked ones.

The second fall went to Roche and Kennedy was by far the most interesting one of the night. Dorv and Jack went into a huddle to call their signals. Emerging, they charged the masked pair and after moving them to opposite corners of the ring they suddenly swung the Terror combine across the ring, effecting a nifty head on collision. As the Terror pair went down Roche and Kennedy pounced on them for the fall.

The third and final fall was gained by the Terror team after 11 minutes of struggling when Kennedy was put out of commission in a two-man attack while Roche lay on the opposite side of the ring with his foot tangled in the ropes. After Kennedy's elimination, the Terror and his manager gave Roche the works to win the decision without too much trouble.

Cowboy Luttrell won the opener over Ronnie Etchison and the semi-windup went to Babe Zaharias over Buddy Strongberg.

Crackers Stage Rally To Defeat Lookouts, 6-3

Deal Smacks Home Run in Sixth Inning

Chattanooga Bunches Hits Off Rambert for 3 Runs in 4th.

By JACK TROY.

Constitution Sports Editor.

Playing smart, heads-up baseball and hitting in the clutch, the Crackers captured the third game of the Chattanooga series, 6 to 3, and kept a finger hold on a chance to finish in the first division.

Last night's performance was typical of several Cracker teams of the past. They spotted the Lookouts a lead and then cut it down to their size. Lindsey Deal hit a home run and Charley Glock was in the groove, scoring a run and producing the hit that won the game in the seventh. Buster Blakeney led the offensive with three hits.

The Chattanooga Choo Choo was switched on to a spur and then the Crackers, fighting for a play-off spot, jingled, jangled, jingled.

THREE RUNS.

Arnold Anderson, a big right-hander, couldn't hold the lead after the Lookouts scored three in the fourth to go two runs ahead. He allowed 10 hits.

Hard-working Pete Rambert was the winner. He yielded 12 hits, but in the clutch he was solid. Rambert took part in the play of the night. It was a sparkling reverse double play which Medak started and Rambert, covering first, finished.

The win was Rambert's 14th against 12 losses this season.

Final game of the regular home season is slated this afternoon at 3:30, with the possibility that Emil Lockbaum will be on the mound. The Crackers need to win to stay in the race for a play-off position.

If they hold last night's pace it will be easy.

GLOCK TRIPLES.

Glock connected for three bases with one away in the third and it looked like typical Cracker luck when O'Brien lined to Stein. But there was a break. Deal grounded to Miller and Anderson, covering first, missed the bag. Glock scored.

The Lookouts cut loose with a blistering attack and scored three runs in the fourth. Ignasiak, in the game for Miller, singled, Gomez grounded out, then Ortiz singled and Montegudo doubled. Guerra fled out, but Ventura doubled. Olson was thrown out by the pitcher.

In the fifth Blakeney bounced a hit off Anderson's arm. Mauldin drove him in with a double. Deal tied up the game on a well-hit home run in the sixth.

The Crackers fought back and took the lead again in the seventh. Blakeney singled to center and Rambert sacrificed. Mauldin's bat broke as he grounded out. Glock came through with a single to center, scoring Blakeney. Gomez made a remarkable stop to retire O'Brien and cut off another run.

A two-run rally clinched the game in the eighth. Deal walked. Scott singled and went to second on Ventura's error. Medak popped out. Smith and Blakeney followed with singles, scoring Deal and Scott.

SHUT EYE WINS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(P)—

Coming from last place in the eight-horse field, Mrs. Thelma Ott's grey colt, Shut Eye, won by a nose from the favored Riverland in the Marine Corps League purse of one mile at Washington Park today. Shut Eye, ridden by Frank Gill, paid $22.20 and was clocked in 1:37 2-5.

Pitching Pastor Seeks To Hurl Albany to Eastern Loop Flag

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 4.—(P)—A pitching pastor from an upstate village has leaped from manse to mound to help the Albany Senators try to clinch the Class A Eastern League pennant.

On the last week of his vacation, the Rev. Bertram Humphries, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Bardonia, headed for the stretch drive.

Manager John (Rip) Collins sent the minister against Springfield, Mass., Wednesday night. Mr. Humphries showed he had a fast ball and a curve, too. In fact he had "the greatest assortment of stuff I've ever seen in the Eastern League," according to Owner McCaffery.

The pastor held Springfield to three hits in blanking them, 8 to 0, clinching a playoff berth for the Senators.

Before entering the ministry, Humphries played for Columbus in the American Association, a farm club of the St. Louis Cardinals; once was the property of the New York Yankees, and for a short time in 1935 pitched for Birmingham, N. Y. He is about 30 years old and a graduate of Brown University.

BACK IN SHAPE—Dick McPhee, hard-driving Georgia fullback, is back in shape and ready to go this season following a serious appendectomy which kept him out the last half of last season. Dick is back to normal weight and figures to have his best year this time.

Browns Sweep Double-Header From Indians

Niggeling Hurls 4-Hitter To Capture Night Game, 4 to 0.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—(P)—The St. Louis Browns came from behind with a four-run rally which routed Chubby Dean in the seventh inning and beat the Cleveland Indians, 6, 3, today in the first game of an afternoon-night double-header, strengthening their hold on third place in the American League, a game and a half in front of the Tribe. Vern Stephens homered for the winners with a man on base.

Knuckleballer Johnny Niggeling hurled a four-hitter as the Browns took the night fringes, 4-0, to sweep the double bill.

The Army and Navy in Georgia

In an effort to co-operate with rail and bus lines in handling the heavy Labor Day traffic in the southeastern states, soldiers on furlough over the holiday will be required to leave their posts not later than September 9 and return by September 9, it was announced at headquarters of the Fourth Service Command yesterday.

Furloughs will be granted to not more than 15 per cent of any Army command for the holiday period and, prior to granting furloughs, post commanders will determine the extent to which commercial transportation is available. Railroads have been notified by commanding officers in the southeast how many men have been furloughed, for how long and what their destination will be, in order to assist carriers in working out equipment requirements.

ATLANTA'S PICTURE IN MAGAZINE

There's a picture in this week's Collier's magazine of some soldiers in Australia. The illustration for a poem by Grantland Rice. Dead center in the group of cheering doughboys is a young man with a mustache, wearing an overseas cap—Sergeant J. W. Grubbs Jr., of Atlanta.

His mother, Mrs. J. W. Grubbs, of 1249 McPherson avenue, was pleasantly surprised when she recognized her son in the British Combine photo, as he hadn't written her a word about it. He has been a radio operator in Australia since May.

Sergeant Grubbs, 22, attended North Georgia College before his induction two years ago. He was stationed at Scott Field, Ill., and at Newport, R. I., before being sent overseas.

GEORGIANS ENLIST IN THE NAVY

The following Georgians have enlisted in the U. S. Navy through the local Navy Recruiting Station, New Post Office building: James Madison Britt, of 412 Woodward avenue; William Lloyd Hartman, of 248 Simpson street, N. W.; Lurie Shirley Jr., of 1081 Atlantic drive, N. W.; Ellis Jones, of 1039 Atlantic drive, N. W.; Howard Edward Duling, of 1037 Colquitt avenue, N. E.; Arthur Jameson Jr., of 1234 Francis street, N. W.; Robert Alexander Burns Jr., of 717 Capital avenue, S. E.; Lloyd Eugene Wilson, of 989 Manigault street, S. E.; Floyd Jackson Evans, of 519 Cameron street, S. E.; Prida Alexander Cooper Jr., of 194 13th street, N. E.

Other Georgians enlisting were William Franklin Redmond Jr., of Gainesville; Willie Felton Webb, of Doraville; Idus Carl Perry, of Clarkdale; Homer Duncan Cochran, of College Park; Ralph Carlton Munroe, of Cedartown; Robert Lee Franklin, of Clayton; Evans, of Milledgeville; Joseph Henry Kelly, and Johnny Loren Hardwick, of Experiment; James Hurs-ton Smith, and Johnnie Otto Sizemore, of Riverdale; Andrew Jackson Duke Jr., and James Sidney McKinney, of Powder Springs; James Franklin Hopkins Jr., of Arthur Columbus Arnold Jr., and Luke Robinson Thompson, of Covington; Joe Franklin Phelps, Frederick Burton Hazlerigg Jr., and George Hamilton Kenmore, of Decatur.

GAS MASKS GREATLY IMPROVED

World War I soldiers who sometimes took off uncomfortable gas masks before the danger was over would find the modern lung protector a far cry from the old style piece, according to the Chemical Warfare Branch of the Fourth Service Command.

Soldiers are now issued a close-fitting rubber mask that eliminates the nose clamp and mouth-piece that made the old ones too hard to manage, and breathing in a mask is now only 12 to 15 per cent harder than normal.

Vision is greatly enhanced in the new masks also. Instead of round eye pieces made of glass, in the new mask the elliptical eye pieces are made of plastic and set at an angle to the face, making almost normal vision possible.

In fact, the new mask is so comfortable that, according to Captain R. A. Gould, chief of the Chemical Warfare branch of the Fourth Service Command, some camps hold baseball games in which both teams wear masks to build up their lung power.

COAL FROM SOUTHEAST ROLLING INTO ARMY

Coal from southeastern mines is rolling into Army posts, camps, and stations in Dixie at the rate of approximately 50,000 tons a day, as the quartermaster's office of the Fourth Service Command keeps abreast of the summer procurement program calling for delivery of 1,500,000 tons by October 1.

In normal times, it was explained, shipment would be scheduled for deliveries at periods covering the entire cold weather season, but in order that required freight transportation facilities can be released for other vital shipping needs, the Army is laying their coal in early.

Baptist ministers are being commissioned as chaplains in the armed services at the rate of two a day, Dr. Alfred Carpenter, superintendent of camp work for the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, reported Thursday.

Sixty were commissioned in August, he said, and 136 men were inducted for chaplaincy appointments.

There are already 428 Baptist ministers serving as chaplains. Those natty uniforms with creases in the shirts will be seen no more—masculine vanity must bow to Army regulations, since word has been sent to all Army post laundries to press them flat.

The reason given by the quartermaster of the Fourth Service Command is that, with the Army expanding so rapidly, there are so many shirts to be pressed that the hired help at the laundry haven't the time to devote to the three creases worn before. The new ruling will increase the production of the shirt presser 25 to 50 per cent.

McNutt Names Group To Study Recruiting of Women Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt called today for a big increase in the number of women at work in the war industries and named a committee to consider policy problems involved in training and recruiting of women workers.

"Increased participation of women in our all-out war production effort is essential to its success," McNutt said. "War production alone employed about 1,400,000 women last December. This figure will jump to 4,500,000 by December, 1942, and will climb to

6,000,000 by the end of 1943. By then, women will represent at least 30 per cent of the labor force employed in war production. "Over 18,000,000 women must be gainfully employed by the end of 1943, so 5,000,000 women must be added to the total number now employed."

To this McNutt added a statement that: "One out of every four housewives, perhaps one out of every three, between the ages of 18 and 44 will be employed."

In connection with McNutt's plea for more women workers, it was recalled that Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, said recently that qualified men working in the war factories must be drafted and their places filled by women and older men.

McNutt appointed Miss Margaret A. Hickey, of St. Louis, to the chairmanship of the policy committee. She is vice president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, a lawyer and a member of the Missouri bar. In addition, she is the owner and director of a school for secretaries in St. Louis.
